

European Family Science Society

Description

The European Family Science Society, like the Family Science Alliance, was established to protect family values, has similar values, and has the same basic aim of promoting the formation and survival of good marriages. However, the members of the European Family Science Society are individuals, not organizations. One of the member organizations of the Alliance is the European Family Science Society.

The website of the association is available at the following link:

European Family Science Society

Date Created

November 2019

Author

admin